II. 英翻中 20% (請將以下之英文文章翻寫成通順之中文，每題 10 分)

- In compliance with the Nine-Year Integrated Curriculum proposed by the Ministry of Education in 1997, English has become a required course in elementary schools. Since 2001, English education has been officially incorporated into curricula for third, fourth, fifth and sixth graders. This policy seems to cause "The Effect of the English Learning Craze" phenomenon.
- Most children in Taiwan have acquired a substantial portion of their mother tongues before they start learning English. Most children's first language is either Mandarin or Taiwanese dialect. Doubtless, English is a foreign language to children in Taiwan; however, English tests for children in Taiwan could be categorized into two types: one regards English as first language; another one regards English as foreign language.
